Buffalo sabres 2015-16 schedule

Dan Bylsma returns to Pittsburgh on Oct. 29. ©2015, Dan Hickling, Olean Times Herald FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. - Before I run to catch a cab to switch hotels, here are some highlights from the 2015-16 Buffalo Sabres schedule the NHL released this morning. - The Sabres, and perhaps the Jack Eichel era, open Oct. 8 at home against the Ottawa Senators at the First Niagara Center. They open with a season-high three-game home stand, one of seven on the schedule. The Sabres also don't have a road trip more than three games, something unusual. - Eichel, assuming he leaves college, would face No. 1 pick Connor McDavid and the Edmonton Oilers on Dec. 6 in Edmonton and March 1 in Buffalo. - The Sabres host the Toronto Maple Leafs and Mike Babcock, the coach the Sabres wooed last month, twice: Oct. 21 and March 31. - New Sabres coach Dan Bylsma returns to Pittsburgh to face the Penguins, a team he led for six seasons, Oct. 29. - Eichel would face his hometown Bruins for the first time Dec. 26 in Boston. - The Sabres face the Jets for the first time since the Tyler Myers-Evander Kane blockbuster deal Jan. 10 in Winnipeg. The Jets visit Buffalo on March 26. - South Buffalo native Patrick Kane and the Stanley Cup champion Chicago Blackhawks visit Dec. 19. - The Sabres have 10 home afternoon games, including seven 1 p.m. Saturday starts. Now, the league has released the every team's full schedule. The Sabres open up their season with a three-game home stand featuring the Senators, the Eastern Conference Stanley Cup representatives Tampa Bay and the Blue Jackets. The schedule features ten afternoon home games, which could mean the Sabres will be on NBC a handful of occasions to show off Jack Eichel. Speaking of Eichel, he and Connor McDavid will match-up twice this season, once in Edmonton on December 6th and in Buffalo on March 1st. As for the Stanley Cup Champions, the Blackhawks will make their visit to First Niagara Center on December 19th. Buffalo will close out it's season on the road against the Islanders on April 9th. We'll have more on this soon, but for now you can see the entire schedule below, courtesy of Sabres.com.
